

JOHN WHITELAW

John worked in the Building Industry for 36 years and upon leaving in 2001 he took up Art as a hobby. John's preferred medium is oil, and his paintings are in the realist impressionist style.

John is a member of the Australian Guild of Realist Artists, the Peninsula Art Society (where he has attended classes and workshops with renowned artists), and the "Peninsula Palettes" a local art group who hold annual exhibitions.

John works mostly in his studio, but has also joined the Peninsula Plein Air Painting Group to experience "Plein Air" painting, which is expanding his knowledge of light, tone and colour.

John lives on the Mornington Peninsula in Victoria, an inspirational source of coastal and bay views. He has travelled Australia widely, and in his paintings he endeavours to capture the rugged beauty of the diverse Australian Landscape. A new challenge John is enjoying are the cityscapes of Melbourne and environs.

John exhibits, and sells, regularly in Rotary and other Art Exhibitions, and has been published in the Australian Artist Magazine. John has paintings in private collections in Germany, England, New York, Canberra, Tasmania, New South Wales, Queensland, Western Australia and Victoria.
